About

I am a dedicated individual who consistently enriched my academic journey through active participation in volunteer work and professional development opportunities. My engagement in various seminars and trainings evidences my commitment to personal growth. It is a big honor contributing to environmental initiatives such as Coastal Clean-up and Tree Planting. Moreover, my collaboration with ASUL in supporting Leupapo Incorporation highlights my compassion and drive to make a difference in the lives of children battling Leukemia. I have attended seminars which focuses on mental awareness, societal awareness, and leadership skills. These learnings have shaped my skills but also tested my ability to balance my academics with meaningful community service.
